Do you know the headcount and demographic breakdown of faculty and staff in your school or unit? What about the retention rate of new faculty hires? What about the zip codes or counties of faculty and staff at IUPUI? All this information can be readily found by faculty and staff at IUPUI using online tools, which you can easily access. This session will show you where and how to obtain information related to faculty and staff using reports and a variety of other sources from IUPUI Institutional Research and Decision Support (IRDS). Those who take part in this session will be able to find and use a variety of reports and information for decision making within their respective department, school, or unit.
