Are you looking to find information about the students enrolled in your courses? What about information on students enrolled in past semesters? Do you know where to look for information as students begin to register for fall? A lot of information on course enrollment is available if you know where to look and who to ask. This session will show you currently available online tools from the Office of Institutional Research and Decision Support (IRDS) to display information on course enrollment, both in real time and at crucial decision points. Staff from the Registrar's Office and IRDS will also discuss other resources readily available to help you find the information you need. Those who take part in this session will be able to find and use a variety of resources related to course enrollment that will help you get the information you need for critical decision making.
